

Indiana's Telephone Privacy Law has greatly improved my day-to-day life. Being home most days, I felt bombarded with solicitations. It became necessary to screen my calls, forcing friends & family to talk to my answering machine just to see if I was really there. By being on Indiana's "Do-not-call" list, I can once again answer the phone when it rings, without feeling nervous or ancy that it might be a solicitor. Please do not do anything to lessen the effect of Indiana's Telephone Privacy Law. This law is important in protecting my right to have telephone service without being harrassed. I pay for my phone service - I should have the right to say who can and cannot call me. Instead of trying to fix something that is working well, the FCC should be investigating the many obscene television programs that seem to get by with more and more vulgarity every day. Leave the Telephone Privacy Law alone.
